FIFTY-SEVENTH YEAR, VOL. LVII, No. 44

Is He Vindicated?

Dave Rubinoff (above), former member of the Seattle Police, gets a good look at an important piece of evidence presented by Peggy Garcia in a suit for $800,000 for alleged theft of a picture of a man in a suit. The dedication reads "To Peggy Garcia, a Wonderful Girl." But why? The signature is a man's name and so on wants to see his $200,000 check. "Dave Rubinoff." Yesterday Dave got some satisfaction when Peggy was arrested for bigamy.

Hat-Check Peggy Named Bigamist; Rubinoff Smiles

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Peggy Garcia, the hot-blooded girl who bought in 1935 on her first visit to Canada valuable oil and mineral rights will not go to jail. The former King, who admitted the three to December, has been shown his infidelity. He will be named bigamist. Rubinoff, who was arrested last night with her husband, Michael, is charged with bigamy.

Assistant District Attorney Harold Hastings said that he had a wife and three children as the time he married Peggy last September. It previously had been revealed, in connection with the heart balm suit, that Peggy already had a husband at the time she charged Rubinoff with bigamy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Her silver-blonde tresses gleaming under dark hair clips, Peggy Garcia, ex-fallen girl, stared at a hall full of detectives at police headquarters line-up today and spoke about her marital status.

GLORIOUS HAT-CHECK

SPECIAL CABLE BY GRANT DEXTER
London Bureau Edmonton Bulletin and Winnipeg Free Press

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The new Anglo-Canadian trade treaty has been warmly welcomed in the United Kingdom, not only because of the substantial advantages granted British manufacturers, but because of the full satisfaction now given by the Canadian government for the raw deal British exporters there received at Ottawa in 1932.

It is widely recognized here that a gross injustice was inflicted on the United Kingdom by the articles of the first Anglo-Canadian treaty constituting a tariff board as the arbiter of the Bennett pledge to restrict Canadian tariffs to the difference in the cost of production, which in new removed and the general British reaction in defiance that the Canadian government has now done the right thing by British manufacturers.

While unable to figure the direct taxation burden, Mr. Dunning made definite moves towards reducing the indirect taxation, by presenting the new United Kingdom agreement through wide reference in textiles and steel commodities.

What Next, Clary?

Clarence Saunders of Memphis, Tenn., proprietor of the world's first electrical grocery store, is here shown behind the scenes as he fills up the display bins made vacant by purchases. Customers are given a key with a light bulb on the end which they use to open the store. They make purchases from the glass cases by inserting the key in a slot nearest the electric light fixture. When the light bulb is lit, the purchase is made, the price recorded and the keys ready for delivery. Saunders was the originator of the "chain store."

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—Postmaster General George Elliott was under fire at the administration of the post office department last night in the house.

After an outburst of tedious debate on various local criticisms, the members, just before adjournment, passed an appropriation of $227,800 for the outside service of the post office and to the civil service commission.

Several afternoon deliveries were criticised as unnecessary by half-dozen members of all parties. Mr. J. H. Macdonald, Conservative, complained against an alleged 30 per cent increase in the postage since the present government came into power.

At Rialto Saturday

RIALTO
A gigantic span of adventure is offered in "Join the Marines," Republic's action-loaded, hilarious production which begins with action on the Atlantic and concludes with adventure on the Pacific. "Join the Marines" opens at the Rialto theatre Saturday and continues until Tuesday.

Paul Kelly, June Travis, Purnell Pratt, Reginald Denny, and Warren Hymer, a quintuplet of outstanding entertainers, have leading roles in the fast-paced "Join the Marines" which depicts a young Olympic athlete who is turned down by his sweetheart first for joining the Marines and then for resigning from Portraying an Olympic javelin-thrower who is dropped from the Olympic squad after a rib-tickling series of incidents aboard the Berlin-bound boat when he is discovered first carrying a champagne bottle and then a bag full of a big heap of drunkards who have attacked him. These sequences are a hilarious burlesque of the actual news story of the 1936 Olympic, in which the German athlete of a feminine Olympic star was thrown from the ship. The story then follows Kelly on his adventures after he joins the marines.

For the sequel, the producers created the fascinating characters of the two young women, Ann Lee, Guinn 'Big Boy' Green, Ann Lee, Guinn's Glamour Girl, who is in support of Boris Karloff in "The Man Who Lived Again," the GB picture at the Rialto in the same program.

It is a very brilliant young woman doctor who is fascinated by entist Carlolf's experiments in transferring the human mind from one body to another and later learns to fear him, Miss Lee is always beautifully feminine in Molyneux's drabrobe. It has provided her with a wardrobe of swags, quilts, flouncing and floating evening gowns and smart street clothes.

Shipped home stone by stone have nothing on Producer Sol Lesser.

For a forthcoming picture, he has bought an entire Swiss village and is having it dismantled, crated and sent here for reassembling.

I hear that he has a covetous eye on the Matterhorn.
